RESIDENTIAL CONTRACTOR & HOME-SERVICES RECOVERY · CAPABILITIES OVERVIEW

Receivables Recovery for Residential Contractors

Recovering completed-work balances from homeowners — on pure contingency, with your approval on every decision

Prepared for Zetas Contracting LLC dba Rocky Ridge Handyman · August 2026

The work is finished. The invoice isn't.

Francisco — thank you for reaching out. A residential contractor carries a risk almost no other trade does: the labor and the material are already spent, the homeowner already has the finished work, and the only leverage left is the paper you kept. This overview answers each of your eight questions in order, in writing, before you send us a single customer's information.

Yes — we accept individual residential contractor accounts involving homeowner consumer balances, including in Colorado. Southwest Recovery Services has been a licensed, bonded outsourced receivables recovery partner since 2004, working consumer and commercial balances from 12 offices across 7 states, including Colorado. Home-services and residential trade contractors — plumbing, HVAC, roofing, flooring, remodeling, doors and windows — are one of our established books.

You place accounts through a secure portal, you keep control of settlement and legal decisions, and you owe nothing unless money is actually recovered. No placement fee, no setup fee, no monthly minimum, no retainer, no upfront legal expense.

Your eight questions — answered directly, in order

Exactly what you asked, in the order you asked it. Everything below is confirmed in writing in the placement agreement before you place the first account.

YOUR QUESTION	SOUTHWEST RECOVERY SERVICES
1. Do you accept residential contractor accounts involving homeowner consumer debt?	Yes. Residential and home-services contractors are an established segment for us — plumbing, HVAC, roofing, flooring, remodeling, garage doors, windows and general repair. Homeowner consumer balances are worked under full FDCPA, Regulation F and TCPA discipline, and under the Colorado Fair Debt Collection Practices Act. Colorado is an operating state for us. The only U.S. states where we do not take consumer placements are California, Oregon and Washington; Minnesota is restricted.
2. Contingency percentage — and any placement, setup, minimum or monthly fees?	Pure contingency. There is no placement fee, no setup fee, no minimum, no monthly fee, no annual fee and no retainer. The contingency percentage is a single stated rate that appears on your agreement and is agreed in writing before you place a single account — it is set by the age, balance size and expected volume of what you place, and a fresh, fully documented ~$5,000 residential balance prices at the low end of the consumer range. Nothing else is ever billed to you.
3. Do you owe anything if no money is recovered?	No. Nothing. If we recover $0, you are invoiced $0. That is the entire economic model — our fee comes only out of dollars actually collected, so we carry the cost and the risk of working the account. There is no clawback, no minimum draw and no cancellation charge.
4. How are direct payments from the customer handled?	You report them to us the moment they land — there is a direct-payment reporting function in the client portal, or a phone call or email works. We update the balance immediately and stop contacting the homeowner for money already paid. Be aware of the one thing every honest agency will tell you up front: the agreed contingency percentage does apply to payments a homeowner makes directly to you on an account that is already placed, because the placement is what produced the payment. It does not apply to anything collected before placement, and it does not apply to accounts you never place.
5. Do settlements require your approval?	Yes. No balance is compromised without your authorization. The default is per-account written approval — we bring you the offer, you accept or decline. If you would rather not be asked every time, you can grant standing authority at a floor you choose (for example, “accept anything at or above 90% of principal”) and we work inside it. Either way, the authority is yours and it is documented on the file.

YOUR QUESTION	SOUTHWEST RECOVERY SERVICES
6. Is legal escalation optional, and does it require your written authorization?	Optional, and never without your written authorization. No account is ever referred for suit automatically. If an account looks legally viable, we bring you a recommendation with the facts — balance, documentation strength, asset and employment indicators, statute of limitations — and you decide. Southwest Recovery Services is not a law firm; suit is handled through a network attorney licensed in Colorado, and any court costs are disclosed and authorized by you in advance. You are never obligated to litigate, and declining costs you nothing.
7. Does recalling an account create a fee or penalty?	No recall fee, no penalty, no notice period. You can pull any account back at any time, for any reason, in writing. The one carve-out is the obvious one: if money was already recovered, or a payment arrangement we secured is already performing, the contingency on those recovered dollars stands. Withdrawing a file that has produced nothing costs you nothing.
8. What documentation do you need to review and place the first account?	For a residential contractor account, the file that recovers is: the signed customer agreement or contract, the estimate, every approved change order with the approval record, the final itemized invoice, the payment ledger and date of last payment, the completion documentation and photographs, material receipts, the written communication trail, and any prior demand you sent. Plus debtor identifiers: full legal name, service address, current mailing address, phone, email. If the contract carries an interest or late-fee provision, send that page — it may be recoverable. You already keep all of this, which is exactly why your file is stronger than most.
On disputed invoices and post-completion complaints	This is the heart of contractor recovery and it deserves its own answer. A homeowner raising a concern after the work is done is not automatically a dispute — and a genuine dispute pauses recovery, it does not end it. We validate against the paper: signed agreement, approved change orders, completion photos, the message trail. In our experience most post-completion objections resolve on documentation alone. Where a dispute is real, we tell you honestly, stop pressing, and hand the account back rather than manufacture pressure that would expose you.

THE SWRS CLIENT PORTAL

Place one account or a hundred — and see everything, any time

Every placement runs through our secure portal. There is nothing to install and no volume commitment — a single $5,000 account is placed the same way as a batch.

SINGLE-ACCOUNT OR BULK PLACEMENT

Enter one homeowner account by hand or upload an export from QuickBooks, Jobber, Housecall Pro or a spreadsheet — we map your columns.

REAL-TIME STATUS AND REPORTING

See exactly what has happened on your account, when, and what is next — on demand, not in a monthly PDF.

SECURE DOCUMENT EXCHANGE

Upload the signed agreement, change orders, invoices, completion photos and receipts directly — the documentation that ends a disputed invoice fast.

DIRECT-PAYMENT REPORTING

Log a payment a homeowner makes straight to you, so the balance stays accurate and nobody is contacted for money already paid.

Actual placed-versus-recovered figures from Southwest Recovery's residential trades book, anonymized by sector — contractors whose customers are homeowners, with average balances in the same range as your first account. The spread is shown honestly. What separates a 49% book from a 10% book is rarely effort: it is documentation and age at placement, and you control both.

Firm recovery that does not cost you the neighborhood

A handyman and remodeling business in Denver metro lives on referrals and reviews. The way a past-due homeowner is treated is not a side concern — it is the whole risk. Every account is worked under FDCPA, Regulation F and Colorado law, documented end to end, and audited for compliance.

Disputed & contested invoices

Documentation-driven validation using your contract, change orders and completion photos — separating a real concern from a stall.

Homeowners who have gone silent

Consumer skip tracing through Experian data to locate a current address, phone and employment when a customer stops answering.

Optional credit bureau reporting

Where you authorize it and the account qualifies, balances can be reported to Equifax and Experian — often the single strongest motivator on a consumer balance.

Your name, protected

Compliant outreach only. No threats, no misrepresentation, no pressure tactics — because the homeowner still lives three doors down from your next job.

Recovery run on an AI-driven platform — Aktos

Every account SWRS works runs on Aktos, a next-generation, AI-driven collections platform — with compliance built into the workflow, not bolted on afterward. It's how a boutique, people-first agency delivers enterprise-grade speed, consistency, and auditability.

AI workflow automation

Repetitive steps are automated and every account is scored and routed by predicted payment likelihood — so the right strategy reaches the right account first, without manual queue-picking.

Omnichannel outreach

Coordinated email, SMS, and voice, timed to when a debtor is most likely to engage — replacing high-friction call blasts with respectful, data-driven contact.

Compliance built in

FDCPA, Reg F, and TCPA guardrails are enforced inside the automation, with phone-number and consent checks before outreach — documented and defensible on every account.

Real-time dashboards

You see status, segmentation, and recovery performance on your portfolio in real time — full transparency, not a monthly PDF.

API-first intake

Secure SFTP/API placement means accounts start working without data lag — roughly 50% faster acknowledgment and validation of new placements.

Data-driven scoring

Dynamic scoring and segmentation predict payment likelihood and concentrate effort where recovery is most achievable — earlier, better-targeted contact that resolves accounts faster and reduces disputes.

The result is the combination clients rarely get from a legacy agency: faster cash and cleaner compliance at the same time. Automation accelerates recovery and standardizes documentation, while empathy-first, data-driven contact protects your brand and keeps disputes and complaints low.

Built by a collector with 30 years on the phones — not a CEO with zero collection experience

Steven Dietz

Founder & Chief Executive Officer

Featured in USA Today, International Business Times & Financial Services Review — Top AR Management Service, 2025 · ACA International member.

Steven Dietz didn't come to collections from the corner office — he came from the phones. He started as a collector and credit analyst before he was 20, was tapped by Aaron's to train collectors across 100+ locations, and has spent nearly 30 years in receivables. Along the way he became convinced the industry's bad reputation was a choice, not a requirement: businesses get paid faster when recovery is built on listening and respect rather than aggressive calls and empty threats.

He founded Southwest Recovery Services in 2004 on that principle — a national, family-owned receivables partner that treats every debtor as a person and every client relationship as worth protecting. Two decades later he still coaches the teams and works accounts personally — an operator who has actually done the job, not a manager who has only overseen it.

Regardless of the means of recovery, our focus is always on preserving goodwill and representing the client professionally.
