Receivables Recovery for Glass & Glazing Contractors

Homeowner balances and commercial invoices —
one partner, two compliance tracks, pure contingency

Prepared for Fast Glass · September 2026

A recovery partner built into your AR process, not called in at the end

To the Fast Glass team — a glass shop carries two very different kinds of past-due balance at the same time. A homeowner who owed $900 on a fogged unit and stopped answering. A general contractor or property manager sitting on a $14,000 storefront invoice who is waiting on their own draw. Same aging report, completely different recovery approach, and completely different compliance rules.

You asked for a long-term partner rather than a one-time cleanup, and that is the version of this that actually works. Recovery falls off steeply with age. A shop that places on a standing trigger — every account at 90 days past due, automatically — recovers materially more than a shop that batches the aging once a year, and on contingency there is no cost to placing early.

Southwest Recovery Services is an outsourced receivables recovery partner working business and consumer balances on pure contingency since 2004, from 12 offices in 7 states — including Denver. You place through a secure portal that takes your existing AR aging export. No recovery, no fee.

Two decades of recovery — with a Denver office on your file

Scale a growing glass company can plug into without hiring an AR person for it, and a local team that knows Colorado trade practice and Front Range property management.

Your four questions — answered directly

Exactly what you asked, in order, plus the two things that matter most for a mixed residential-and-commercial glass book.

YOUR QUESTION	SOUTHWEST RECOVERY SERVICES
1. Fee structure	Pure contingency — $0 upfront, no retainer, no monthly fee, no charge on what we don't collect. You pay a pre-agreed percentage only of what we actually recover. The rate scales with the age, balance size and volume of what you place, so we quote it once we've seen a representative sample of your aging rather than guessing at it now.
2. Account minimums	None. No minimum balance per account and no minimum placement volume. A $600 residential glass balance is worth placing; so is a $22,000 commercial glazing invoice. Small balances are worked through automated, compliant outreach rather than being priced out of the file.
3. Collection process	Place the account with the invoice or work order, the signed estimate or contract, and last known contact details. We review it, skip-trace where the contact data has gone stale, then run documented multi-channel outreach — letter, phone, email — into payment-plan negotiation, and review escalation to pre-legal on accounts that justify it. You see status on every account live in the portal and can recall an account at any point.
4. Consumer and commercial together	Both, under one agreement, routed automatically by debtor type — you don't sort them. Homeowner balances run the consumer track: validation notice, Reg F call-frequency limits, cease-communication honored, documented and auditable. Contractor, property-manager and commercial invoices run the B2B trade track, which sits outside the FDCPA and allows direct engagement with AP, the controller and ownership.
The two that decide the outcome	Documentation and timing. A signed estimate or work order and a clean invoice turn a "they never authorized that" dispute into a paid account. And placing at a fixed trigger instead of when the aging finally gets cleaned out is the single largest lever on what you recover. One note on geography: we don't work consumer accounts where the debtor resides in California, Oregon or Washington — those are returned at intake.

SECURE DOCUMENT EXCHANGE

Send signed estimates, work orders, invoices and photos inside the portal — the paper that closes out a disputed job fast.

REAL-TIME REPORTING

Run and export account and recovery reports on demand instead of waiting on a monthly statement.

DIRECT-PAYMENT REPORTING

Log payments a customer makes straight to Fast Glass, so balances stay accurate and nobody gets contacted about money they already paid.

WHY TIMING BEATS EFFORT

The aged accounts you have now are the hardest ones you'll ever place

You mentioned a handful of aged accounts. Those are worth placing — but they are the low end of the range above, not the high end, and we would rather say that now than let you infer 49%. The value of this relationship is in what you place next year, not what has already gone cold.

THE AGE CURVE

A balance placed inside 90 days past due frequently resolves in 30–60 days. The same balance at 18 months collects a fraction of that, because contact data is stale, the customer has moved on and your leverage is gone.

THE STANDING RULE

Pick a trigger — 90 days is the common one — and let everything cross it automatically. On contingency there is no cost to placing early and no penalty when an account pays you directly first.

Recovery varies by portfolio, aging mix and documentation quality. SWRS gives an honest, age-based read on a representative sample before any accounts are worked, and we do not guarantee recovery rates.

The four ways a glass shop's money gets stuck

Trade receivables in glass fail in predictable ways, and each one needs a different move. Chasing all four the same way is why in-house AR stalls out.

The homeowner who went quiet

Small residential balances worked on the consumer track — skip tracing, compliant multi-channel contact, payment plans sized to what a household will actually complete. Treated with the same courtesy you showed them on the job.

The GC waiting on their own draw

Commercial skip tracing on the operating entity, its successors and its principals, plus direct engagement with AP and ownership. Pay-when-paid is a negotiating position, not a defense.

The disputed job

Documentation-driven validation — signed estimate, work order, change orders, photos, the message trail — that separates a real workmanship dispute from a stall. Send us the paper and most of these close.

Property managers and repeat accounts

Portfolio-level contact that recovers the balance without burning a relationship you intend to keep billing. Firm, professional, never a liability to your name in the Denver market.

Recovery run on an AI-driven platform — Aktos

Every account SWRS works runs on Aktos, a next-generation, AI-driven collections platform — with compliance built into the workflow, not bolted on afterward. It's how a boutique, people-first agency delivers enterprise-grade speed, consistency, and auditability.

AI workflow automation

Repetitive steps are automated and every account is scored and routed by predicted payment likelihood — so the right strategy reaches the right account first, without manual queue-picking.

Omnichannel outreach

Coordinated email, SMS, and voice, timed to when a debtor is most likely to engage — replacing high-friction call blasts with respectful, data-driven contact.

Compliance built in

FDCPA, Reg F, and TCPA guardrails are enforced inside the automation, with phone-number and consent checks before outreach — documented and defensible on every account.

Real-time dashboards

You see status, segmentation, and recovery performance on your portfolio in real time — full transparency, not a monthly PDF.

API-first intake

Secure SFTP/API placement means accounts start working without data lag — roughly 50% faster acknowledgment and validation of new placements.

Data-driven scoring

Dynamic scoring and segmentation predict payment likelihood and concentrate effort where recovery is most achievable — earlier intervention that trims DSO and reduces disputes.

The result is the combination clients rarely get from a legacy agency: faster cash and cleaner compliance at the same time. Automation accelerates recovery and standardizes documentation, while empathy-first, data-driven contact protects your brand and keeps disputes and complaints low.

Built by a collector with 30 years on the phones — not a CEO with zero collection experience

Steven Dietz

Founder & Chief Executive Officer

Featured in USA Today, International Business Times & Financial Services Review — Top AR Management Service, 2025 · ACA International member.

Steven Dietz didn't come to collections from the corner office — he came from the phones. He started as a collector and credit analyst before he was 20, was tapped by Aaron's to train collectors across 100+ locations, and has spent nearly 30 years in receivables. Along the way he became convinced the industry's bad reputation was a choice, not a requirement: businesses get paid faster when recovery is built on listening and respect rather than aggressive calls and empty threats.

He founded Southwest Recovery Services in 2004 on that principle — a national, family-owned receivables partner that treats every debtor as a person and every client relationship as worth protecting. Two decades later he still coaches the teams and works accounts personally — an operator who has actually done the job, not a manager who has only overseen it.

Regardless of the means of recovery, our focus is always on preserving goodwill and representing the client professionally.
