Receivables Recovery for Senior Living Communities

Former-resident balances across independent living, assisted living and multifamily — worked with discretion, on pure contingency

Prepared for The Hampton Group / SLS Communities · October 2026

The balances that come due after someone has already moved out

To Dakota Taffinder and The Hampton Group team — a former-resident balance is the hardest receivable a housing operator carries. The resident is gone, the unit has been re-leased, and the only people left to talk to are a family that has just moved a parent or settled an estate. Your staff are community managers and care teams; asking them to chase that money costs you twice.

Thank you for reaching out. Roughly 36 former-resident accounts, about $145,000 — 32 senior living, 4 multifamily, with deceased residents on one side and post-eviction balances on the other. We recognize that portfolio: residency and lease agreements, not medical claims; tenants and responsible parties, not patients.

Southwest Recovery Services is an outsourced receivables recovery partner working residential, senior living and multifamily balances on pure contingency since 2004. You place through a secure portal and we work them. No recovery, no fee — and the first thing we will talk about on a call is not price. It is how your families will be spoken to.

Two decades of recovery — and a real residential book

Senior living communities, apartment operators and property managers have been part of our client base for years. The results on page 05 are theirs, not a brochure average.

Your seven questions — answered in order

Exactly what you asked, in the order you asked it, with the detail that matters for a residency-agreement book rather than a healthcare one.

YOUR QUESTION	SOUTHWEST RECOVERY SERVICES
1. Fee / contingency rate	Pure contingency — $0 upfront, no retainer, no minimum, no per-account fee. You pay a pre-agreed percentage only of what we actually recover. The rate follows the age, balance size and volume of what you place, and we quote it once we have seen a representative sample of your aging.
2. Senior living & deceased-resident experience	Independent and assisted living balances are a standing part of our residential book — monthly service fees, rent through the notice period, community-fee shortfalls, damage and restoration charges. Deceased-resident accounts run on a separate, slower track: death confirmed before further contact, outreach suspended through the early weeks of loss, and the account moved toward the estate.
3. Estates, probate & responsible parties	We locate the personal representative and present the claim into the estate, not to relatives who owe nothing. Arizona's non-claim rules put a hard clock on creditor claims, so these are triaged first. Where a third party signed your residency agreement we read the document: a true personal guaranty is pursued on its terms; a signature given in a representative capacity is not, and we will say so.
4. Eviction, judgments & legal escalation	Yes. Post-eviction balances are standard work, and an existing judgment is an asset — we go straight to post-judgment enforcement through our attorney network. Balances with no judgment are assessed for suit on documentation and asset picture; nothing is filed without your written approval.
5. Onboarding & what we need from you	Low-lift. A signed agreement, then a spreadsheet export from your property-management system — resident name, last known address, phone, email, dates of residency and move-out, itemized balance, and the community as creditor of record. Agreements, final statements, ledgers and any death notice or eviction order load into the same portal. Outreach begins within 24–48 hours of a documented placement.
6. Typical recovery timelines	Most of what resolves does so inside 90–180 days of placement, with first payments commonly in the first 30–60. Estate accounts run longer and follow the court's calendar, not ours. Age at placement is the biggest single driver — see page 05.

7. Credit bureau reporting

Yes, on eligible accounts — we furnish to Equifax and Experian, and rental and residency balances also to Experian RentBureau, the tenant-screening database other housing operators pull before approving an applicant. Reporting is elected once at onboarding for the portfolio, not account by account, and nothing is furnished until the validation window has run.

THE SWRS CLIENT
PORTAL*Property-management-ready intake and full visibility, on demand

Every placement runs through our secure portal — built to take your rent-roll and resident-ledger exports and give your corporate office live, self-service access throughout recovery.

LEDGER-READY PLACEMENT

Upload a resident-ledger or aged-balance export from Yardi, RealPage, AppFolio, Entrata or a spreadsheet — we map your columns, no re-keying.

REPORTING BY COMMUNITY

Run and export recovery reports on demand, broken out by community, so each property manager sees their own book without calling corporate.

SECURE DOCUMENT EXCHANGE

Send residency and lease agreements, final statements, eviction orders and death notices safely inside the portal — the paper that settles a disputed balance fast.

DIRECT-PAYMENT REPORTING

Log payments a former resident or family makes directly to you, so balances stay accurate and no one is contacted over money they have already paid.

Actual placed-versus-recovered results from Southwest Recovery's residential book, anonymized by sector — weak results shown alongside strong ones. A book carrying deceased residents and post-eviction balances will not perform at the top of this range, and you should see that before you place.

THE MOVE-OUT CLOCK

Why the date you place matters more than the rate you negotiate

A former-resident balance is most collectible in the weeks right after move-out, while the forwarding address is current and the ledger undisputed. Every month after that, contact data decays and the account drifts toward the bottom of the range above.

THE AGE CURVE

Accounts placed within 90–120 days of move-out recover at a materially higher rate than the same balances placed a year later; estate accounts are harder still once the probate claim window has closed.

THE STANDING RULE

A fixed “place at 90 days past move-out” policy recovers more than letting balances sit on the ledger until year-end write-off — and on pure contingency there is no cost to placing early.

Recovery varies by portfolio and by aging. Before any accounts are worked, SWRS gives an honest, age-based read on a representative sample of your file — including which accounts we do not think are worth placing.

Recovering the ledger without putting your communities in the middle of it

A senior living community sells trust to adult children before it sells anything to a resident. How a past-due balance is handled after move-out is part of that reputation — visible in reviews and family word of mouth long after the account closes. Our job is to collect the money and leave your name intact.

Deceased residents & estates

Death confirmed before further contact, outreach suspended through the early weeks of loss, and the claim presented into the estate against Arizona's probate clock — not to a grieving family who is not liable.

Responsible parties, read correctly

We read your residency agreement to distinguish a genuine personal guaranty from a signature given in a representative capacity, and pursue only what the document actually supports.

Post-eviction & judgment balances

Existing judgments go straight to post-judgment enforcement; unsatisfied balances are assessed for suit on documentation and asset picture, with nothing filed without your written approval.

Equifax, Experian & RentBureau

Eligible balances furnished to Equifax and Experian, and rental and residency balances to Experian RentBureau — where the next operator screening that applicant will see them.

Recovery run on an AI-driven platform — Aktos

Every account SWRS works runs on Aktos, a next-generation, AI-driven collections platform — with compliance built into the workflow, not bolted on afterward. It's how a boutique, people-first agency delivers enterprise-grade speed, consistency, and auditability.

AI workflow automation

Repetitive steps are automated and every account is scored and routed by predicted payment likelihood — so the right strategy reaches the right account first, without manual queue-picking.

Omnichannel outreach

Coordinated email, SMS, and voice, timed to when a debtor is most likely to engage — replacing high-friction call blasts with respectful, data-driven contact.

Compliance built in

FDCPA, Reg F, and TCPA guardrails are enforced inside the automation, with phone-number and consent checks before outreach — documented and defensible on every account.

Real-time dashboards

You see status, segmentation, and recovery performance on your portfolio in real time — full transparency, not a monthly PDF.

API-first intake

Secure SFTP/API placement means accounts start working without data lag — roughly 50% faster acknowledgment and validation of new placements.

Data-driven scoring

Dynamic scoring and segmentation predict payment likelihood and concentrate effort where recovery is most achievable — earlier, better-targeted contact on the balances that can still be collected.

The result is the combination clients rarely get from a legacy agency: faster cash and cleaner compliance at the same time. Automation accelerates recovery and standardizes documentation, while empathy-first, data-driven contact protects your brand and keeps disputes and complaints low.

Built by a collector with 30 years on the phones — not a CEO with zero collection experience

Steven Dietz

Founder & Chief Executive Officer

Steven Dietz didn't come to collections from the corner office — he came from the phones. He started as a collector and credit analyst before he was 20, was tapped by Aaron's to train collectors across 100+ locations, and has spent nearly 30 years in receivables. Along the way he became convinced the industry's bad reputation was a choice, not a requirement: businesses get paid faster when recovery is built on listening and respect rather than aggressive calls and empty threats.

He founded Southwest Recovery Services in 2004 on that principle — a national, family-owned receivables partner that treats every debtor as a person and every client relationship as worth protecting. Two decades later he still coaches the teams and works accounts personally.

Regardless of the means of recovery, our focus is always on preserving goodwill and representing the client professionally.
