Receivables Recovery for HVAC & Plumbing Contractors

Recovering aged commercial service and installation balances — on pure contingency, no recovery no fee

Prepared for All Pro Heating, Cooling & Plumbing · September 2026

$155,000 sitting at 90+ days

To Portia and the All Pro leadership team — thank you for the call and for the detail you gave us. You told us the shape of the problem plainly: roughly $155,000 outstanding, the bulk of it past 90 days, mostly commercial accounts with some residential mixed in. This overview answers what you asked, in the order you asked it.

We will start with the part most agencies skip. A book that is majority 90+ does not recover like a fresh one. Our own commercial HVAC and plumbing results at your placement size run roughly 13% to 49%, and the accounts that land at the top of that range are the ones with a signed work order, a clean invoice and a reachable decision-maker. We would rather show you that spread now than quote you an average you will hold us to later.

Southwest Recovery Services is an outsourced receivables recovery partner working commercial and consumer balances on pure contingency since 2004, with recovery reach across all 50 states. You place through a secure portal that takes your service-management or accounting export. No recovery, no fee.

What you asked us on the call

Answered directly, including the ones where the honest answer is a range rather than a number.

YOUR QUESTION	SOUTHWEST RECOVERY SERVICES
Fee structure	Pure contingency — $0 upfront, no retainer, no monthly minimum. You pay a pre-agreed percentage only of what we actually recover. Skip tracing is included, not billed separately. The rate scales with the age, balance and volume of what you place; we quote your number once we have seen a representative sample of the aging rather than guessing at it now.
What we expect to recover	On a majority-90+ commercial book at your size, plan on the middle of the range opposite, not the top. The six results shown are real placements from our HVAC, plumbing and mechanical clients at $100K-$225K, and they run from 49% down to 13%. What separates them is documentation and contact quality, not effort. We give you an age-banded read on a sample before a single account is worked, and we do not guarantee recovery.
Commercial and residential together	Both, worked separately. Your commercial accounts are B2B trade receivables and are not consumer debt. Your residential balances are consumer accounts and carry FDCPA, Regulation F and state collection rules. Different teams, different rulebooks, one portal and one point of contact for you.
Disputed invoices & change orders	A dispute pauses recovery, it does not end it. We validate the account against the paper — signed work order or proposal, itemized invoice, technician notes, change-order approvals, the communication trail — and speak with both sides. In the trades the signed work authorization is usually decisive. Dispute investigation typically adds 30–60 days.
Customers who have gone silent	The core of what we do. Persistent multi-channel outreach, commercial skip tracing to locate the operating entity, its successors and the principals behind a business that has gone quiet, and credit reporting to Equifax and Experian where the account qualifies. A third-party demand on agency letterhead alone resolves a meaningful share of silent accounts.
References & getting started	We will provide HVAC and plumbing client references on request as the evaluation narrows. To start, bulk-upload an aging export from ServiceTitan, Housecall Pro, QuickBooks or a spreadsheet through the portal — we map your columns, so nothing is re-keyed. Outreach begins within 24–48 hours of a documented placement.

THE SWRS CLIENT PORTAL

SWRS HVAC, Plumbing & Mechanical Case Studies

Actual placed-versus-recovered results from Southwest Recovery's trade-contractor book, anonymized by sector and chosen at your placement size — $100K to $225K, not seven-figure portfolios. The spread is shown as it is. A majority-90+ book behaves toward the middle and lower half of this range.

THE AGING CURVEWhy 90+ behaves differently — and what still moves

A trade receivable is most collectable while the job is fresh, the technician's notes are current and the person who approved the work is still in the chair. Past 90 days, contact data goes stale and the account competes with every other bill on the customer's desk. That is the book you are describing, and it is still worth placing — on contingency it costs nothing to try.

WHAT RECOVERS BEST IN YOUR FILE

Accounts with a signed work order or approved proposal, an itemized invoice, and a named approver. Documentation is the single biggest predictor in the trades.

WHAT THE NEXT BOOK SHOULD DO

A standing rule to place at 90 days recovers materially more than letting balances drift toward write-off, and it stops the next $155K from aging the same way.

Recovery figures vary by portfolio; SWRS gives an honest, age-banded read on a representative sample before any accounts are worked. No recovery is guaranteed.

Turning aged service invoices back into cash

Trade receivables stall in a predictable handful of ways. Each one has a different answer, and sorting the file correctly at intake is most of the work.

Silent commercial accounts

Commercial skip tracing on the business, its successors and its principals, plus persistent multi-channel demand for customers who have stopped responding.

Disputed work & change orders

Documentation-driven validation against the signed work order, itemized invoice and approval trail that separates a real dispute from a stall.

Commercial and residential, separated

Two teams, two rulebooks. B2B trade accounts and consumer balances are never worked the same way.

Nationwide reach

Recovery across all 50 states from 12 offices in 7 states — wherever your commercial customers operate.

Recovery run on an AI-driven platform — Aktos

Every account SWRS works runs on Aktos, a next-generation, AI-driven collections platform — with compliance built into the workflow, not bolted on afterward. It's how a boutique, people-first agency delivers enterprise-grade speed, consistency, and auditability.

AI workflow automation

Repetitive steps are automated and every account is scored and routed by predicted payment likelihood — so the right strategy reaches the right account first, without manual queue-picking.

Omnichannel outreach

Coordinated email, SMS, and voice, timed to when a debtor is most likely to engage — replacing high-friction call blasts with respectful, data-driven contact.

Compliance built in

FDCPA, Reg F, and TCPA guardrails are enforced inside the automation, with phone-number and consent checks before outreach — documented and defensible on every account.

Real-time dashboards

You see status, segmentation, and recovery performance on your portfolio in real time — full transparency, not a monthly PDF.

API-first intake

Secure SFTP/API placement means accounts start working without data lag — roughly 50% faster acknowledgment and validation of new placements.

Data-driven scoring

Dynamic scoring and segmentation predict payment likelihood and concentrate effort where recovery is most achievable — earlier intervention that trims DSO and reduces disputes.

The result is the combination clients rarely get from a legacy agency: faster cash and cleaner compliance at the same time. Automation accelerates recovery and standardizes documentation, while empathy-first, data-driven contact protects your brand and keeps disputes and complaints low.

Built by a collector with 30 years on the phones — not a CEO with zero collection experience

Steven Dietz

Founder & Chief Executive Officer

Featured in USA Today, International Business Times & Financial Services Review — Top AR Management Service, 2025 · ACA International member.

Steven Dietz didn't come to collections from the corner office — he came from the phones. He started as a collector and credit analyst before he was 20, was tapped by Aaron's to train collectors across 100+ locations, and has spent nearly 30 years in receivables. Along the way he became convinced the industry's bad reputation was a choice, not a requirement: businesses get paid faster when recovery is built on listening and respect rather than aggressive calls and empty threats.

He founded Southwest Recovery Services in 2004 on that principle — a national, family-owned receivables partner that treats every debtor as a person and every client relationship as worth protecting. Two decades later he still coaches the teams and works accounts personally — an operator who has actually done the job, not a manager who has only overseen it.

Regardless of the means of recovery, our focus is always on preserving goodwill and representing the client professionally.
