Receivables Recovery for Membership & Club Dues

Recovering delinquent Club Plan dues and post-chargeback guest balances — on pure contingency

Prepared for MetroLagoons • October 2026

A recovery partner for dues owed by people who still live here

To Bryan Nadeau and the MetroLagoons team — a delinquent Club Plan account is not an anonymous balance. It belongs to a homeowner who lives in the community, whose neighbours are at the Lagoon on Saturday, and who you want back in good standing rather than gone. That changes how the account has to be worked, and it is the first thing we want to talk about — before fees, before process.

Recurring dues behave differently from one-off receivables. A Club Plan balance doesn't sit still — it compounds every billing cycle a member stays delinquent, so a book that goes unworked for two quarters is materially harder and more expensive to resolve than the same book placed at 90 days. The single highest-leverage change most dues operators make is not chasing harder; it is placing on a fixed schedule.

We also note the distinction you drew: these are Club Plan dues tied to residential homeownership, not HOA or CDD assessments. That matters operationally. We work them as consumer contract receivables under FDCPA and Regulation F — validation notice, documented dispute handling, contact-frequency limits — rather than assuming any statutory assessment remedy. The Club Plan membership agreement is the controlling document, and it is the first thing we will ask to see.

Your questions — answered directly

Everything you listed, in the order you listed it, plus the one question you asked last and we think matters most.

YOUR QUESTION	SOUTHWEST RECOVERY SERVICES
1. Fee structure	Pure contingency — $0 upfront, no retainer, no monthly minimum, no per-account fee. You pay a pre-agreed percentage only of what we actually recover. The rate is driven by the age, average balance and volume of what you place; we quote it once we have seen a representative sample of your delinquent Club Plan aging. Nothing is charged for accounts we don't collect.
2. How members are contacted	Phone, email, SMS and physical mail, sequenced by what the account responds to rather than by volume. Tone is the point: these are your residents, and every contact is made as a professional representative of MetroLagoons, not against it. SMS specifically requires documented prior express consent — we will want to see the consent language in your Club Plan enrollment before a single text goes out, and we work email, phone and mail where it isn't there.
3. Payment arrangements	Set up and administered end to end — our collectors are authorised to negotiate terms inside limits you define, and we will hold to whatever floor you set on minimum payment, maximum term and settlement authority. Payments post to your portal in real time, and arrangements that break are re-engaged automatically rather than falling silent.
4. Disputed accounts	A dispute pauses recovery; it does not end it. We log it, send written validation, and work it against the paper — the Club Plan agreement, the billing and payment history, and the communication trail. For a dues book the agreement usually settles it quickly. Disputes are documented account-by-account and reported back to you, so you see the pattern as well as the outcome.
5. Skip tracing and escalation	Standard on every placement, not an add-on: address, phone and employment tracing through national databases, plus property-record work that is particularly effective here, since the obligation follows a home you can locate. Where normal recovery is exhausted we review the account for credit reporting (Equifax and Experian) and, with your written authorisation account-by-account, legal escalation through our attorney network.
6. Reporting and Vantaca intake	You place accounts by uploading your existing export — we map your columns, so a Vantaca-generated delinquency file goes in as it comes out. Inside the portal you get live account status, recovery-to-date and remittance detail on demand, plus direct-payment logging so a member who pays MetroLagoons directly stops being contacted the same day. Reporting is self-service and real-time, not a monthly PDF.

7. Post-chargeback guest balances

Yes — with a condition worth stating plainly. Once an issuer decides a dispute for the cardholder, the card network remedy is finished, but the underlying obligation between MetroLagoons and that guest usually survives it. We can pursue it where you can produce the transaction record, the terms the guest accepted at purchase, and the issuer's final decision. Where that documentation is thin, recovery rates are materially lower than on your dues book — so we would scope, price and report chargeback placements as their own portfolio rather than blending them into the dues numbers.

THE SWRS CLIENT PORTALVantaca-ready intake and full visibility, on demand

Every placement is managed through our secure portal — built to take the export your community-management platform already produces and give your team live, self-service access throughout recovery.

UPLOAD WHAT YOU ALREADY EXPORT

Place a delinquency file straight out of Vantaca — we map your columns to ours, so nothing is re-keyed and nothing is lost in translation.

SECURE DOCUMENT EXCHANGE

Send Club Plan agreements, ledgers, statements and chargeback documentation safely inside the portal — the paper that resolves disputes fastest.

REAL-TIME REPORTING

Run and export account status and recovery reports on demand across all Lagoon locations, by community or in aggregate.

DIRECT-PAYMENT REPORTING

Log payments a member makes directly to MetroLagoons so balances stay accurate and no resident is contacted after they have paid.

SWRS Recovery Case Studies — dues, membership and community accounts

Actual placed-versus-recovered results from the Southwest Recovery book, anonymized by sector and chosen for their relevance to a recurring-dues portfolio. The spread is shown honestly: dues books vary more by age at placement than by anything else, and the low numbers below are heavily aged portfolios placed long after write-off was already likely.

THE DUES ADVANTAGE

Why a recurring-dues book rewards placing on a schedule

A Club Plan balance is unlike a one-time invoice: it grows every cycle the member stays delinquent, and the member's willingness to engage falls as the number gets larger. The gap between the top and bottom of the case studies above is almost entirely age at placement.

THE AGE CURVE

Accounts placed inside ~90–120 days of delinquency recover several times what the same accounts return after a year of internal follow-up. The balance has not yet compounded past what the member believes they can pay.

THE STANDING RULE

A fixed “place at 90 days” policy, applied automatically out of Vantaca, recovers materially more than case-by-case decisions — and on pure contingency there is no cost to placing early.

Recovery figures vary by portfolio. SWRS gives an honest, age-based read on a representative sample of your delinquent Club Plan accounts before any of them are worked.

Recovering the money without losing the member

A delinquent member is still a resident, a neighbour and — in almost every case — a future paying member. The whole discipline of recovering residential dues is doing it firmly enough to work and carefully enough that the person comes back into good standing rather than out of the community angry.

Recurring Club Plan dues

Compounding monthly balances worked on a schedule, with arrangements that fit what a household can actually carry and automatic re-engagement when one breaks.

Non-responsive members

Skip tracing on phone, address and employment, plus property-record work — the obligation follows a home, which makes a dues account materially easier to locate than most consumer debt.

Disputed and contested balances

Documentation-driven validation against the Club Plan agreement and billing history, logged account-by-account and reported back so you see the pattern behind the disputes.

Post-chargeback guest balances

Scoped, priced and reported as their own portfolio — pursued on the underlying obligation and the documentation behind it, never on the card-network remedy that has already closed.

Recovery run on an AI-driven platform — Aktos

Every account SWRS works runs on Aktos, a next-generation, AI-driven collections platform — with compliance built into the workflow, not bolted on afterward. It's how a boutique, people-first agency delivers enterprise-grade speed, consistency, and auditability.

AI workflow automation

Repetitive steps are automated and every account is scored and routed by predicted payment likelihood — so the right strategy reaches the right account first, without manual queue-picking.

Omnichannel outreach

Coordinated email, SMS, and voice, timed to when a debtor is most likely to engage — replacing high-friction call blasts with respectful, data-driven contact.

Compliance built in

FDCPA, Reg F, and TCPA guardrails are enforced inside the automation, with phone-number and consent checks before outreach — documented and defensible on every account.

Real-time dashboards

You see status, segmentation, and recovery performance on your portfolio in real time — full transparency, not a monthly PDF.

API-first intake

Secure SFTP/API placement means accounts start working without data lag — roughly 50% faster acknowledgment and validation of new placements.

Data-driven scoring

Dynamic scoring and segmentation predict payment likelihood and concentrate effort where recovery is most achievable — earlier intervention that trims DSO and reduces disputes.

The result is the combination clients rarely get from a legacy agency: faster cash and cleaner compliance at the same time. Automation accelerates recovery and standardizes documentation, while empathy-first, data-driven contact protects your brand and keeps disputes and complaints low.

Built by a collector with 30 years on the phones — not a CEO with zero collection experience

Steven Dietz didn't come to collections from the corner office — he came from the phones. He started as a collector and credit analyst before he was 20, was tapped by Aaron's to train collectors across 100+ locations, and has spent nearly 30 years in receivables. Along the way he became convinced the industry's bad reputation was a choice, not a requirement: businesses get paid faster when recovery is built on listening and respect rather than aggressive calls and empty threats.

He founded Southwest Recovery Services in 2004 on that principle — a national, family-owned receivables partner that treats every debtor as a person and every client relationship as worth protecting. Two decades later he still coaches the teams and works accounts personally — an operator who has actually done the job, not a manager who has only overseen it.

Regardless of the means of recovery, our focus is always on preserving goodwill and representing the client professionally.
